

Acknowledgement

Our website “AgriBazar” has required help from many quarters. We realized this when we ventured into the area of web development. From the beginning, everyone cooperated and supported us, for which we express our sincere acknowledgment. Training is the first step in the practical field from where one learns how to apply theoretical principles for practical purposes. To develop a successful website, one needs understanding and coordination from all those who are directly and indirectly involved in this. We would like to thank our internal guide Prof. Kunjan Jesingani and external guide Mr. Ravi Lukka for being so helpful for our project AgriBazar. We find ourselves to be privileged to have the golden opportunity to develop the website under the guidance of such people without whom designing and developing a website successfully would have been just impossible for us. We are thankful to them.
